

Volunteer

By volunteering at the PCLC, you can have a direct impact on someone's life, helping them gain the skills necessary to improve their lives and the lives of their families.

The PCLC will match you with an adult learner from our community who is in need of help improving their skills in areas of basic education: English Language Learning, GED, and Citizenship.

Pressed for time? You're in the driver's seat. You and your learner can meet in-person or online.

New to teaching? No problem! The PCLC offers training both online and in-person, providing materials and support for all of our volunteer/learner matches.

The Portage County Literacy Council

The PCLC, founded in 1986, is a volunteer driven nonprofit organization based in Stevens Point dedicated to providing adult learners with educational services free of charge.

Our Mission

Our mission is to help those in need that live and/or work in Portage County develop the skills necessary to achieve economic self-sufficiency, becoming valuable members of our thriving community. We offer instruction in English Language Learning, Adult Basic Education, and Citizenship Preparation.

Support

It is important to us that both the tutor and the learner find their shared time rewarding and enjoyable. High priority is given to personal preferences. With this in mind, the PCLC individually assesses each learner and provides tutors with appropriate training and resources. We have a large selection of hardcopy and digital materials. The goal is to make sure each tutor feels comfortable and confident by offering the resources they need.

For those tutors wishing to expand their knowledge, the PCLC offers upskilling sessions sponsored by our community partners. Offered monthly, these info sessions are great opportunities for all tutors to gather, discuss topics, and share information.

Finally, the PCLC offers one-on-one training sessions to to suite the tutors needs or address any concerns that might arise. Our door is always open.

Learn

Learn in the way that works best for you. All services are free of charge. Our learners include imigrants, refugees, and those from right here in our own community. All are welcome.

Online or In-person

Each individual is unique. The PCLC offers personalized instruction to suit the needs of each learner. In addition to our one-on-one sessions, group classes are offered both on-line or in-person. For newcomers, the PCLC offers group instruction focused on Cultural Orientation. Please Call for times and availability.
